

Safety Recall-Suffocation Hazard

Cosco (now Dorel Juvenile Group)
"Zip 'n Go," "Okie Dokie" & "Carters" Playards

Dear Valued Consumer:

You have, a recalled Cosco playard sold between January, 1995 and December, 1999 under the name "Zip n Go," "Okie Dokie" or "Carters". If broken or loosened, the plastic tabs that lock the rails into the corners can allow the side rail to turn inward and collapse. An infant could be trapped and suffocated. You should stop using these playards immediately.

The recalled playards can be identified by the model label on the bottom of the playard, on the metal tubing near one of the corners. Model numbers of the recalled playards are 05-361, 05-362, 05-363, and 05-364.

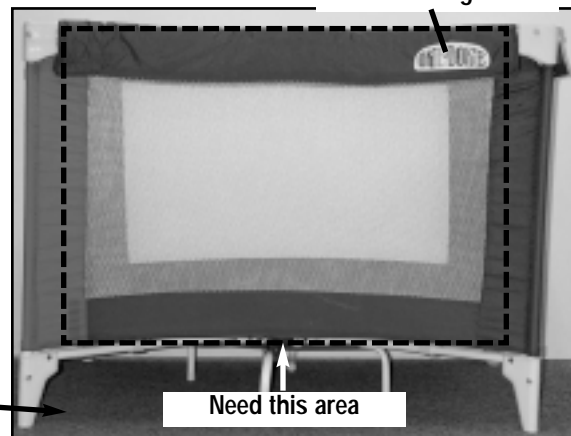

There is no "fix" for the playard. Dorel Juvenile Group is instead offering you your choice of $30, a Safety 1st cordless rechargeable monitor or another playard. To receive your refund or replacement product, you must send back one complete 40" mesh side of the playard, the two logos (one on each side of the playard), the model sticker and this completed letter.

Mail ALL the proof of destruction materials and this letter to:
